

Rob Lewis

English Language Teaching Consultant, Writer and Trainer

He has nearly 20 years experience as a qualified teacher, trainer, writer, project manager and advisor for ELT programmes. His areas of particular interest are teacher education, the use of technology both in the classroom and to transform professional development, and English as a medium of instruction in higher education.

He previously ran the TeachingEnglish website and was a business development manager for learner products for the British Council. He has been heavily involved with IATEFL online for several years and also the LearnEnglish series Word on the street.